FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials of the Office of Secretary of State assume no fiscal impact to their office.

Officials of the Office of Administration stated that this proposal would only affect counties holding an uncontested Committeewoman/man election where there is no filing fee. Officials stated this proposal would eliminate the Office of Administration's reimbursement of ballot costs for uncontested Committeewoman/man races. Officials assume the following: 1) that the Office of Administration would continue its responsibility for special election costs; 2) this proposal would save the cost of ballots for those elections specified, which are state costs; 3) that it would save the counties money for publication costs; 4) that not every county would have uncontested elections each election year. Officials estimate savings to the State's General Revenue Fund in FY 2003 at $205,000 and again in FY 2005. Officials ranged an estimate of savings, (from publication costs), to local election authorities at $4,500 to $100,000 in FY 2003 and FY 2005.

The Boone County Clerk stated that this proposal would provide savings for both the State and certain Counties. Officials estimated savings to the State at approximately $200,000 statewide, and estimates savings to Boone County at $9,000 to $15,000.
